

God's Leading

I was brought up in a devoted Taoist family, so “worshipping gods” was part of my life. For a small kid, the most important thing was to be able to enjoy some biscuits and candies I seldom had... At that time I never heard about Jesus Christ, but God did not forget me. He let me know Him and even chose me to become His child.

In high school years, because of my interest in musical instruments, the then Captain Jenny Chen invited me to join the corps band. Together with fellow brothers and sisters, we not only practised music together, but served and lived together. This kind of relationship seemed even closer than blood brothers. Later, I converted to God and began serving in The Salvation Army.

At the beginning, in addition to giving thanks to God, I was also very grateful to Major Arthur Chen for his care and guidance. It truly warmed my heart, broadened my wisdom, and laid the foundation of my faith so that I will not turn from it when I grow old.

After stepping into the society, I tried many jobs but things did not go very smooth. Until God gave my wife Grace and I an opportunity to serve in the evangelistic field of The Salvation Army, we realized that we should not rely on ourselves. When we seek God, He will guide our way ahead. Therefore, I deeply experienced God's wonder. It is a blessing that I become a Salvation Army officer. I just sincerely ask God to strengthen my beliefs and my act. As long as we become God's faithful servant, He will grant us strength. As long as we trust and rely on God, He will prepare for us. All we have to do is to do what He asks us to do with all our heart, our strength and our mind.
